What is the difference in styles and prices?

Quaker Lace tablecloths are quality tablecloths made in the U.S.A. regardless of price differences; however, tablecloths high in cotton content are more expensive and have a softer feel. Cotton is a more expensive raw material than polyester. Also, scalloped hems are a result of a more difficult process. Higher yarn content per inch results in more expensive designs. This affects the weight. For instance, White House is the heaviest. White House is made on the only antique machine of its kind in the country which makes White House an exquisite, rare design. Also, look for permanent press and soil release styles.

How do I measure for a tablecloth?

Measure your table. Then, add between 20"-24" to both sides of your table to come up with an estimate of the correct tablecloth size to purchase.
